

Instructions: In your small groups, one person should make a copy of this Google Doc and share it with others in the group via link in chat and the instructor: [add_your_email]. Alternate notetakers to develop responses to the following items. Try to tie your responses to textual examples whenever possible: specific language, page numbers of summarized scenes, etc.

Group Members:

Close Reading/Human Reading

1. Together, summarize the story [we used the Yellow Wallpaper, but you can use any text that is not too long for the students to close read] in seven sentences or less.
2. What are the patterns in the text that support this interpretation?
3. What do you know about the historical context that relates to your interpretation of the story?

Computer Reading/Voyant

1. If you haven't already, paste the text provided [we used the Yellow Wallpaper, but you can use any text from Project Gutenberg] into the Voyant tool.
2. What patterns seem significant to you?
3. How does this way of reading the text support the interpretation you formed during human reading the text?
4. How does it complicate that reading?
